The following notice has been sent to the ratepayers in this district:

"At the last meeting of the Farmers Institute, which was very largely attended, the following resolution was carried unanimously: That in the opinion of this meeting a substantial cash bonus should be offered for the erection of a first class flour and grist mill at Elkhorn. A mass meeting of the ratepayers will be held in Broadley's Hall, Elkhorn, Saturday, March 18th, at 1 o'clock sharp, to discuss the project and appoint a committee to carry out arrangements. You're cordially requested to attend."

Mr. Frank Arkell, who lived in Elkhorn for some months, and who is a brother of Mr. Geo. Arkell, (livery man) was one of the owners in the fire that destroyed so much property in Wawanesa on March 1st. His stock of drugs and store were burnt, but happily, according to this "Commentary," good insurance was held. The figures given in that paper are: "Loss, $800 on building and about $250 on stock. Insurance, $300 on building and $900 on stock."

We hear that Mr. Platt, late of Manchester, England, has gone into the wood business in this town. He proposes getting his supply from the big bush or else where—mostly elsewhere. Owing to the trails being bad and the night very dark, he was forced to leave part of his last consignment. We hope, however, that nothing more serious than a slight raise in wood will arise from his disappointment.

There is a good story going the rounds about the line between Micoonau and Qu'Appelle. Two well known commercial travellers, during a cold snap, were delayed at a small town where the hot trade accommodation was no better than the trade could afford. The weather was very bitter, and the stove in the office, sitting room and bar-room combination needed fuel to keep it going. Calling the proprietor they pointed out this fact, and that gentleman explained that "there was lots of wood in the yard, but it ain't bucked. You know." The latest of the commercial travellers were hard at work at the wood pile, much to the surprise of the hotel proprietor.

"We hope," said the leading article apologetically, "that our readers will pardon the appearance of this week's 'Intelligence,' and the extremely mysterious absence of a certain letter." Our subscribers can help in explaining our stock if all those who write shot by Sam will save the shot when it is picked out of them, and return it to us. Never mind if it is battled a little. —Inland Printer.

The spiral stair case made in the carpenter's department of the Waskada Indian Home, Elkhorn, shows the class of work that is capable of being executed to the ability required for that class of work. The stair case is a model made one-fourth the full size of the stair when built for practical use, it stands self supporting on its own centre cylinder or column. The floor supporting the column or cylinder shows the joint two thickness of boards, the joint being bridged to form a solid footing for the foot of the column which it supports thoroughly. The floor is painted to represent red, white and blue tiles, the national colors. All the steps are morticed into the cylinder or column making the work solid and secure. The nosing and moulding of the steps is returned on the outside of the spiral board supported by a neatly moulded bracket, the spandril board as a rest mould worked on the bottom edge, running round the stairs from bottom to top; underneath the steps are three stringers running round from bottom to top, covered by sections of boards worked to the graceful under curves or lines of the stairs, these are painted to represent lath and plaster. There are three fine newells specially designed for these stairs, the design must be seen to be appreciated, they are worked out of the solid with raised basis, raised panels on the centre of the newell with raised paterae on the top of the newell. The head being worked in four half circles intersecting in the four corners to the centre of the head. There are 21 steps. The balustrades supporting the handrail are worked out of the solid with base and neck mould on each. The handrail is stained to indicate mahogany. The whole is nicely varnished. The whole work reflects much credit upon the foreman of this department, who, we understand, is starting business on his own account in the town this spring. The staircase will be on view at Broadley's store till Friday only.

BEULAH BITS.

Things are pretty quiet here after the numerous diversions of the last few weeks, and people are beginning to think about seedling and spring work but it is not time yet, although some folks thought it was coming last week, from the present perspective of this road, late boats will be in great demand in about a month.

Mrs. March of Beulah is expecting a baby this week, she has been far from well lately but we hope soon to see her all right again.

Messrs. Still and Hamilton, late of the N. W. M. P., have arrived here, they intend settling down on Mr. Still's old farm east of here, and are going in for the sheep industry. We wish them every success.

Mr. George Hall of your riding community has been giving us a visit round here this week, he says times are not so bad after all as some people imagined!

HOW IS THIS!

To the Editor of the Standard.

Sir,—In reference to the money-raising schemes spoken of by "Layman" in your last issue I quite agree that it is time to look about us to see whether we are doing as well as we can. WOMAN'S PARLIAMENT.

SPEECHES DELIVERED AT WINNIPEG.

Introductory Address by Dr. Amelia Yeomans as Premier.

6th. The influence of the exercise of the suffrage on women here would be broadly educative. She would become more thoughtful, less impulsive, less apt to jump at conclusions. She is conscientious in a high degree and it is absurd to suppose that dropping a ballot into a box now and again would change her whole nature. She would vote against all the enemies of purity and righteousness, those enemies which she most earnestly opposed her obtaining the suffrage.

6th. There is absolutely no good reason for refusing the request of these petitioners. Inmate people are obviously unable to vote. Criminals are the enemies of the society. Children have not enough knowledge, but none of these disabilities are found in women. Why refuse the request of these petitioners? Hon. J. D. Long says on this point, "Let us be honest and admit what we know. The right to woman is because there is just trace enough of ancient barbarism lingering in our civilization of the thing is a nut-shell. Either women should vote or men should not vote."

7th. Questions of regulation are largely questions of morals. Men alone, however honest or able, are competent to do with the morals of any community. It is along the line of reformatory work that women's eyes have been opened to the necessity of political recognition. Our eyes are full of societies whose aim is to fight evils fostered by our present laws.

8th. Organizations under which humanity groans, such as those representing the liquor interest, are violently opposed to woman suffrage. The Brewer's Convention in Chicago passed this resolution by a unanimous vote, "That we are opposed to woman suffrage everywhere and always, for when woman has the ballot she will vote solid for prohibition, and woman's vote is the last hope of the prohibitionists." You can't make liquor against the interests of home and children.

9th. The straight pointer to all good men as to the propriety of passing this bill. But Madame Speaker, will not further multiply reasons, but conclude with evidence that cannot be gainsaid as to the good results already achieved where woman suffrage has been tried. Hoping the experiment has been made. In Wyoming they have had full woman suffrage for twenty years. The state constitution, its workings must have been found very satisfactory. Every Governor who has had fifteen years has been approved of it and he is remembered that a desire to influence the woman's vote has had nothing to do with this, for territorial governors are appointed from Washington. Mr. J. H. Hayford, sixteen years auditor of the territory, seven years postmaster at Laramie City, years postmaster at Cheyenne City, a man, therefore, whose opinion must carry weight, says of woman suffrage, "I do not know of a person in the territory who does not heartily endorse its results, nor one (unless belonging to a class who do not like to see good laws faithfully executed) who would consent to its transmission to the people." "Yes," "Why? Well, there are too many souls that are so small they would be lost in the moving."

The Marquis of Queensberry, who invented rules governing the prize ring, was present on the platform in advocacy of polygamy. Polygamy is a subject that should be handled "without gloves." Little Dick—Mamma says th' cat is full of electricity. Little Dick—Of course, put your ear down on'er an' you can hear the trolley.

IT-HAS NO EQUAL.

Dear Sirs—I have used your Hagyard's Yellow Oil for many years, and have found it unequalled for burns, scalds, cuts, etc.

A True Heroine.

Among the old-time clamps of Napoleon was Marie Clementine Lavalette. When no more the state needs gave him in marriage the emperor's harem, a favorite niece of the Emperor. After Napoleon's down-fall and the emperor's execution, she was arrested and sentenced to death. The young wife vainly interceded for his pardon, but finally obtained permission to visit him the night before his execution and persuaded him to put on her dress, coat his face, and so escape. The stratagem was successful. But the wife, detained as a prisoner, spent 20 days and nights of such harrowing suspense that she became insane, and although her husband was finally restored to her, she never recovered her reason—Chicago Inter Ocean.

NOT A FANCIKLE.

A feature worth noting in regard to Burdock Blood Bitters is that it does not contain one particle of poisonous matter, and cures and cures quickly without the use of any injurious ingredients. B.B.B. is a purely vegetable specific for dyspepsia, constipation, bad blood, headache, biliousness and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

THE KEY TO HEALTH.

Unlocks all the dogged enemies of the Bowels, Kidneys and Liver, carrying off gradually without weakening the system, all the impurities and foul humors of the system, at the same time correcting Acidity of the Stomach, curing Bilelessness, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dizziness, Heartburn, Constipation, Dryness of the Skin, Dropsy, Dimness of Vision, Jaundice, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Fluctuating of the Heart, Nervousness, and General Debility; all these and many other similar complaints yield to the happy influence of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

When in despair of being cured of long trouble there is a hope, and a strong hope of perfect cure, in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This medicine cures even after all others have failed, and our patients from coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, etc., need despair of cure while Norway Pine Syrup is obtainable.

A Boy's Essay on Columbus.

The following story is vouchered for by an Ohio schoolmaster as a faithful copy of a boy's composition on Columbus. Some of the writer's historical statements are a little "mixed," but our readers will not mind that, for the story is so good. "Columbus was a great patriot, he was born in Genoa, Italy. It is undoubtedly known what year, but I think it was Friday, October 12, 1492. "Columbus was the youngest of his five brothers and so he concluded that he would go out and see if he couldn't do something for his country. "He went to the city of New York, and walked the streets until he was tired and hungry. He then went to a baker's shop and bought him two three-cent loaves of bread, he was one going along the street and the other he put in a red handkerchief and put it in his pocket, a lady seeing him laughed at him and made fun of him, finally he became so smart that she married him.

When a remedy is endorsed by ministers, editors, merchants, farmers, and leading men of all classes, it is strong evidence that such remedy has great merit and does what is claimed for it. Such a remedy is Burdock Blood Bitters, its wonderful success as a cure for dyspepsia, bad blood, etc., is well known to old and young.

A Judge's Way to Get at the Truth.

"You were arrested at midnight working on the side of the bank with a sledge hammer and yet you protest that you are innocent," said Judge Duff to a bankrupt who had been arrested. "I am an innocent man, may it please your honor." "Would please me very much to think you were innocent. What was your object in trying to open the safe?" "I only wanted to open the safe so as to get change for a $5 bill." "But you didn't have any $5 bill." "I know that Judge, I expected to find one in my pocket—out of the safe open." "Texas Sitings."

REDUCED TO A SCIENCE.

The treatment of disease is now almost reduced to a science. A scientific product of medical skill, there cure of all blood diseases from a common pimply to the worst scrofulous form which has held popular esteem for years and years is now reduced to a science in Burdock Blood Bitters. It cures prove its worth.

SOWING WHEAT.

In view of the usual editorial we have reproduced the following letter written by John Williams of Melita to the North-West Farmer, feeling certain that the experience gained by the writer will prove of use to many of the farmers in this community:

"I take it for granted that a man need not necessarily have had a large acreage of wheat, neither is it necessary that he should have made a success of his efforts at wheat growing, during the season that is just passed, to make his experience worth telling. Though it is far more gratifying to record a success than a failure. The number of acres I had under wheat was small, only 70, and the yield light, but my experience with what I had, has taught me some lessons which I think will be of value to me in future. My land is a light, sandy loam with clay subsoil. I am a firm believer in the efficacy of blue-stone as a preventative of smut, having always treated my red wheat for the last six or seven years, and consequently have always been free of smut.

I had 40 acres of summer fallow, 10 of fall plowing, and 30 of stubble, which I worked with the spade harrow. I sowed 1 1/2 bushels to the acre all over, using a Superior Press Drill, preferring it to any other kind of drill or sower. I have yet seen for all kinds of grain. My summer fallow had been plowed once during the summer of 1904, (commencing June 20, finished July 10, and repeatedly harrowed with the idea of killing weeds and picking the ground. The plowing process was continued all fall by the cattle tramping over it in search of green grain and weeds. When frost came, it was in good shape. I started sowing it on April 18th. On the acre of 10 I used wheat that was a little damp—not heated at all. The half of it rotted in the ground, never coming up at all. That ten acre patch grew the best crop of pig weed I ever saw, which I plowed down about the beginning of July. The remainder of the field—30 acres—made a grand start, in common with all the crops in the locality, but the extraordinary dryness of the summer affected it seriously, and when threshing time came, the yield was found to be only 370 bushels, or about 12 to the acre.

My field of fall plowing, on the river flat, I sowed it on May 14th and cut it on August 18th. This field always ripens 10 or twelve days earlier than its neighbors on the hill, because of the greater heat in the valley. For the same reason, I presume, this field suffered more from the drought than the others, the yield being only 10 bush to the acre. Last year it turned out 24 bus.

The 30 acres I worked with the spade harrow, was sown on May 18th—10th, cut on August 23rd—31st, and turned out a fraction over 10 bush to the acre; the best I had altogether. I threshed from the 70 acres a little over 1000 bus. of clean wheat, which I sold at an average of 50 cents. After a careful calculation, I find it cost me in cash 18 cents a bus. to raise. I hired a binder for all my harvest. As it added before, the summer was extremely dry; the first heavy rain we had coming on August 25th, which accounts for the very low yield to the acre. I think my crop may be taken as a fair average specimen of the district. Had the yield per acre been larger, the cost per bus. would, of course, have been proportionately lower.

I have learned the following lessons, viz: Never to sow damp seed under any circumstances. That spade harrowing is preferable to plowing on clean land that is not exhausted, because the seed bed is firm, the stubble is all on top of the ground, protecting the young plants, and preventing the wind from blowing the soil away from them. If the spade harrow leaves the soil too rough, I turn the common harrows upside down and level it off in the fall. And to sell my wheat as early in fall as I can.

I ought to have mentioned I had manured some 10 acres of the summer fallow in '04, before plowing it. It made no difference in the crop, the manured piece could not be picked out from the rest of the field. Another peculiarity I noticed was, that every time I had driven south with the drill the wheat was greener and thinner than when driving north. The field lies north and south. How to account for that, I don't know. A friend of mine in Ontario noticed the same thing in his wheat."

Farmers and others should be careful and see what changes they are getting these days, as the banks will make heavy discounts after April 1st. At a meeting of the Bankers Association, held last Friday, in Winnipeg, it was decided that American silver would be received by the banks at the following rates: Silver dollar, 80¢; half-dollar, 40¢; quarter, 20¢; dime, 10¢.

AN EXHIBITION TRAIN.

THE C. P. R. WILL SHOW A LOCOMOTIVE AND TRAIN OF CARS WHICH HAVE BEEN MADE IN CANADA AT CHICAGO.

Montreal, March 10.—The train of cars of the Chicago Pacific railway to be sent to the Chicago Fair, will be one of the finest ever seen in America, and what is better, both engine and coaches have been constructed at the company's works in this city. The locomotive weighs sixty-two and a half tons and its power will be sufficient to draw ten sleepers at a speed of sixty miles an hour. The World's Fair train will embrace this engine, baggage car, second class sleeper, day coach, dining car and sleeper.

A MEMBER OF THE NORTH WEST COUNCIL SKIPS OUT.

Mr. Campbell, J. P., member of the N. W. Legislative Assembly for West Assiniboia, and postmaster of Whitewood, left suddenly for parts unknown last week. He had made good use of his credit in the town, borrowing money wherever he could find a friend to lend. The post office funds seem to be all right. He was treasurer of the Whitewood Agricultural Society, and it seems that he has made off with all the funds placed in his charge. It is supposed that he is in the States, and strenuous efforts are being made to bring him back. He leaves a little boy behind him and his wife is in the old country.

NEW ENGLAND SWEDES

PROSPECT OF A LARGE INFUX OF THEM INTO THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST.

Toronto, March 10.—The Empire's Montreal correspondent says that he has been informed by a gentleman just returned from the New England States, that there will be a heavy influx of Swedes into the Canadian Northwest this spring and summer from the manufacturing towns of those states where the Swedes number almost as many as the French Canadians, and the Empire's informant states that the Swedes about to leave for Canada have saved from $1,000 to $5,000 each, and they will be found to be amongst the most desirable class of settlers who have yet made their way into the Dominion.

STRUTHER'S SHANTY SONG.

Mr. Allan Struthers, writing from Lake Max, Holstein, says: "We have received several copies of the Elkhorn Advocate lately, and seeing that we all came from there we like it very much. You will find enclosed a song composed in camp, entitled 'Struthers' Shanty Song.' We intend being back in spring.

Tune—Rock Island I Line.
I'm singing you a song of a jolly good gang
We started from Elkhorn to have a good time.
We arrived at Lake Max on the 10th of November,
And the days spent there we'll always remember.

CHORUS.

Lad lad lad, dare oh dar dar dar dar dar.
Repeat.
First is our foreman, Allan Struthers, by name,
He is a rigger, but he is not to blame;
He loads up his sleigh to Bolasavain drives,
At six in the evening at home he arrives.
Four o'clock in the morning the foreman does shout,
Come out all you teamsters, its time you were out.
Teamsters get up in a wild frightened way,
"Where are my shoe-parks? my socks are astray."

When noon tides rolls round the foreman does scream,
Down with you tools-boys, haste to your beams.
Arrive at the shanty the sleighing begins,
Kicking over the water pail, also the tins.
Here's to our chopper, Jack Swift by name,
He is a good chopper you bet all the same.
Between chopping and splitting he puts in his time,
When six o'clock comes he says boys it is time.

About this Jack Swift we've mentioned before,
He stands six foot two as he stands on the floor,
With his half fourteen inches hanging down on his back,
An old buckskin jacket and stray pants for to match.
Here's to our sawyers, we can't leave them out,
Last out in the morning and first in at night,
To see them a sawing you would think it a sight,
One is rather tall, the other is a mite.

First of our sawyers, Andy Watts by name,
Andy's a dandy, you bet all the same,
Laughing and joking, he is the lad,
He turns sorrow to laughter and makes us all glad.
Bailey Jones, our next sawyer is six foot and two,
The first to begin and the last to get through,
At shooting back rabbits he is rather good,
Much better than sawing up the cord wood.

Here's to our cook, A. G. Medley by name,
He does his best but we can't him blame,
The beef that he gets it looks like tripe,
It would sicken Old Nick and our stomachs would gripe.

Now you should see the place we sleep in,
The greatest old shack you ever were in,
Three rooms in one room, bedroom, kitchen and hall,
Our chest is three wooden pegs stuck in the wall.

Five suits of old clothes makes our wardrobe complete,
One for the shanty, the same for the street,
When we dress up we look very neat,
We take our boss along to keep us off the street.

When spring does come we'll give it three cheers,
To the deers with the bush and the clothes it does tear,
If ever we come back we'll make a big change,

We'll fetch the cook or we'll lose all our change,
Now my boys you hear this song you'll find it true,
If you don't see a word ask some of Struthers boys.
Twice at old Montreal's saw until this song was sung with glee,
Here's the end of the Elkhorn boys that was composed by three.

"IF I SHOULD DIE"

If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heartick o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die to-night
And you should come in deepest grief and weep
And say: "Here's that $10 that I owe,"
I might arise in my white cravat
And say, "What's that?"
If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel,
Clasping my bier to show the grief, you say
I say if I should die to-night
And you should come to me and there and then
Just even hint 'bout payin' me that ten,
I might arise the while,
But I'd drop dead again.

Virdeu, March 8.—Enthusiastic meetings of the P. D. Farmers' Institute No. 1 are held every two weeks and a very deep interest is being awakened in many questions affecting the farmer's interests, among others tariff reform, followed by strong petitions to the Government for the removal of duty on binder twine, coal oil, barbed wire and implements. On March 4th, very decided opinions were expressed that the rates on grain to Montreal are too high. This was followed by a petition to Sup't. Whyte urging the C. P. R. to reduce the rates on their commodities. Petitions were also drafted with the object of securing a larger representation of farmers on the grain standards board. It is felt that a decided injustice is done to the farmers in keeping the grades too high, but the president, Mr. Elder, and most of the members are of the opinion, and rightly, that farmers are largely to blame for this in sending their best samples of grain. It is the unanimous opinion of the institute that some different system of collecting samples and fixing grades should be adopted.
